

Trinity Health is proud to be recognized as one of the nation's "Most Wired" health systems, as published in Hospitals & Health Networks magazine's 2008 Most Wired Survey.

While winning this award is nice, we invest in this technology because it helps us provide the highest quality healthcare for our patients and residents.

We invest in this technology because we have a remarkable team of people working hard every day to provide the best healthcare possible, while in the midst of dramatic change that comes with innovation.

We believe that this award recognizes our values and culture more than it does the technology we use. With that in mind, we are certainly wired for success!
