Trinity Health's Story

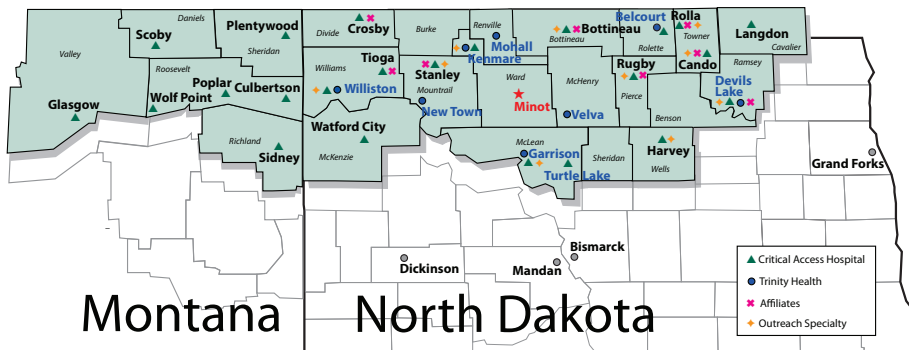

The earliest pages of Trinity Health's story were written in the Lutheran churches that dotted northwest North Dakota in the early 20th Century. Spurred by the dual health challenges of World War I and the influenza pandemic, church leaders envisioned a hospital to serve the healthcare needs of an expansive region. Meeting in Minot on April 25, 1922, they launched a fund drive for a 30-bed hospital, the first of a four-phase construction plan.

The key figure in Trinity's founding – Rev. T.F. Gullixson – encouraged a philosophy of “no minimums.” Thus, Trinity Health defined a broad mission for itself, becoming both a place of healing and a teaching center committed to training the next generation of healthcare providers. This combination inspired an approach to care unusually advanced for a hospital far removed from a large university center.

This commitment to excellence resulted in frequent expansions of facilities and services. In 2023, Trinity Health replaced its legacy campus with a new state-of-the-art Healthcare Campus and Medical District, thus transforming the delivery of healthcare services once again.

Today, Trinity Health is the region's premier health system, providing a full complement of healthcare services to North Dakota and Eastern Montana. Throughout our history, we've achieved countless milestones. What will never change is our commitment to always look ahead and improve ourselves in ways that provide the most exceptional care possible for our patients, their families, and the communities we serve.
